DECISION MAKER    CONSENSUS BUILDER
FIERCELY LOYAL TO LONGMONT

“Josh has the knowledge and experience necessary to confront the many economic and political challenges Longmont faces. His years of service as a Longmont Planning & Zoning commissioner, as well as his work to enhance Longmont’s business community, make Josh Goldberg well suited to represent Longmont” Mayor Brian Bagley

“I cannot think of anyone who has built more social capital in our City than Josh Goldberg. Josh has served on the Planning & Zoning commission for the last 6 years and I have been very impressed by the decisions he has made on that board. Josh truly loves Longmont and he will make an excellent City Council member.” Mayor Dennis Coombs (2011–2017)

HERE’S A FEW OF THE ISSUES I LOOK FORWARD TO WORKING ON:

1. Protecting our quality of life and balancing our strong economic standing while maintaining our small-town feel is the greatest challenge now and into the future.
2. Addressing our affordable housing gap while Longmont becomes a more desirable and expensive place to live will require more than one easy solution.
3. There is no larger project in our city than the continued rebuild of the St. Vrain corridor. Completion will enhance our town from east to west.
4. Cultivating communication between our diverse communities within our city and respecting residents feedback will help us move forward together.
5. Easy and effective transportation opportunities around the city, especially for our aging demographic, is of growing concern and I look forward to connecting the dots.
6. Waving the flag that Longmont is open-for-business is critical to a healthy and robust future, filled with exciting job opportunities and a strong economy.

I'm excited to serve Longmont on City Council, representing Ward 1. Serving on various boards & commissions in town over the last decade has taught me what's most important when it's time to make decisions for our town. First, this isn't about me, this about what's best for Longmont. Second, I take great consideration on feedback and guidance from City staff, consultants, experts, the public and those that have served our town before me. Third, I am committed to making sure everyone is heard, especially when the decision goes against their interest. The bottom line is that my hands-on experience in Longmont governance makes me uniquely qualified to be your advocate on the City Council.

Stop by Mac's Place at Pace and 17th on a Saturday morning from 8:30-10 a.m. until February 24th if you wish to work together to elevate this town we love.

Sincerely,

PLEASE VOTE FOR JOSH
